DOES THE U. S. WANT A THIRD TERM? - Editorial discussing the political implications of a third term for Roosevelt.

Chief among the criticisms of the Roosevelt administration has been its disregard for American principles and traditions.

From the beginning of American democracy, one tradition always has been held sacred.

More than anything else, a democracy fears being caught in the position where any leader has too much power and for that reason can make it appear that he is indispensable.

On numerous occasions in the past, it has been demonstrated under both Republican and Democratic administrations, that the United States government needed a housecleaning.

Otherwise government administrations can and will grow into vast political machines, exercising uncontrolled power to lead the country into what will.

Had the situation been reversed, had it been a Republican candidate who was being nominated for a third term as president, it is certain that every loyal citizen who favored the Democratic national convention would be raising his voice in holy horror.

Maybe conditions are such that it is necessary for the first time in American history to keep a president in office for three terms. It may be equally ominous, however, that we have even approached the point where an American president can be re-elected primarily by selfish interests rather than any desire to perpetuate our traditions and hold true to our democratic principles of government.

Now that Patty Berg has deserted the amateur ranks three girls who have been seriously threatened for several years may be hard to stop in the 1940 national women's golf championship at Pebble Beach, Calif., in September.

They're Marion Milly of Lexington, Ky., Charlotte Glutting of Rock Springs, N. J., and Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga.

The Kentuckian has played in seven nationals, reaching the semi-finals twice and the quarter-finals once. Miss Glutting has been almost as threatened. Last year she was beaten in the semi-finals by Miss Kirby, who will be a big threat at Pebble Beach. She was beaten in the 1940 finals by Betty Jameson of San Antonio.

Miss Jameson, July 21, is at the top of her game, as she demonstrated recently by winning the Trans-Mississippi

Armstrong, Jenkins Meet Second Time

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—The state athletic commission cleared the way today for Henry Armstrong and Lew Jenkins to get paid for their fight Wednesday night, and Promoter Mike Jacobs immediately announced plans for a return match between the two in Madison Square garden Sept. 27.

The commission, which had held up the fighters' purses without giving any reason Thursday, cleared up the "mystery" and then soothingly ruffled dignity by pinning a 60-day suspension on Eddie Mead, Armstrong's manager.

The fighters agreed to meet at midnight at the Waldorf Astoria hotel, and the fight was set for Wednesday night.

Big Flash Wins Hollywood Derby

Favored Midland and Sweepida Fall in Bid for Western Title

LOS ANGELES, July 20 (AP)—Blazing the western championship drama of the Indiana stable owned Sweepida, Thomas D. Tassart's Big Flash came from nowhere today to capture the third running of the $25,000 added Hollywood derby at Hollywood park.

Cleaning with a burst of power from the starting of the 9000, the big chestnut colt from the Indiana stable bowled over Sweepida in a rush down the stretch and held off a second challenge from W. B. Simpson's West Anchor to take the winner's purse of $15,000 by a length and a quarter.

Charles S. Hower's Midland, backed down to even money and bidding for the three-year-old crown of the west, ran fourth behind Sweepida. The Flash, trained in pre-race forecasts, did not get a call until he began his spectacular charge in the last furlong.

Big Flash, timed in 2 minutes 3-5-5 seconds, had informed him Ogdin's place and $400 to show. West Anchor paid $140 and $400 and Sweepida $120.

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP)—The plan and Art Winch, who last night won the National League batting title, might just as well resign themselves to being content with second place in the batting championship. It doesn't look as though Harry Danning will be ousted from the top spot.

For the fourth straight week, the "brains" of the Orioles is leading the way, his mark of .247 being considered an improvement over the .246 he posted last week.

Merill May of the Pirates is in second place with a .231 to out-Disc Danning. Walter of the Dodgers, last week's batting champion, has skidded to fourth place, behind Billy Nicholson of the Cubs.

Stan Hack of Chicago heads the list in two departments — at .26 with 11th round technical knockout last night, would draw well, even in Seattle, heretofore the hottest of men.

It was a discouraged Hostak who yielded his title to Zale last night. He had Tony afterwards, but he thought the tough former steel worker had the hardest punch he had ever seen.

Share Market Finishes Week With Irregularly Lower Trend

Markets At A Glance

NEW YORK, July 20.—The stock market finished the week with an irregularly lower trend. Profits taken, however, were not unprofitable.

Investors again attributed apathy mainly to the desire of speculative forces to have finished the week with a clear pending before European war developments.

The market again remained in a moderate market group, although there was talk here and there of a steady decline as a result of the broadening of defense spending.

The Associated Press advance of 60 stocks was off 1 1/2 of a point. Transfers totaled 111,220 shares.

Among stocks under water at the close were Bethlehem Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, United Aircraft, Panhandle Aircraft, American Telephone, Westinghouse, Union Carbide, Telephone and Telegraph.

Emerging with most improvement were U. S. Steel, Woodworth, Du Pont, Kennecott, North American, Chesapeake & Ohio, Standard Oil of N. J. and General Electric.
