Critics Clash at German Bombs Blast a Crater at Croydon

THIS PICTURE, sent by cable from London to New York, shows a bomb crater made when German planes raided the Croydon district, an airport suburb of London. The air ministry announced that every plane which took part in the Croydon raid was destroyed before it got back to Germany. Digger raids then followed on Berlin.

Roosevelt Speeds U. S.-Canadian Defense Hook-Up

President Starts Picking Board Members; Wallace Resignation Signals Campaign Start

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 19.—The first meeting of a permanent United States-Canadian board of defense was projected for early next week as President Roosevelt began today selection of its American members.

By telephone from his ancestral home, Mr. Roosevelt asked state, war and navy department officials in Washington to recommend four or five persons, drawn chiefly from the armed forces, to serve on the board, with an equal number of Canadians.

There was nothing to indicate whether he would call on the army and navy high command for the personnel or rely on subordinate officers. He is expected to complete his choice by Thursday in preparation for the board's initial meeting at a place not yet designated.

Meanwhile, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau left his Bronx, N. Y., home today for an undisclosed destination in Canada. There was speculation in Washington that his trip might be in connection with the defense project but he was not expected to discuss the matter with any of the presidential attaches who had heard nothing of Morgenthau's Canadian visit and were unable to suggest what role, if any, he might play in defense plans.

Senators Flay Ambassador As Dictatorship Advocate

D. Worth Clark Leads Hot Attack Upon William C. Bullitt, Charging 'Little Short of Treason'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Charging William C. Bullitt, the American ambassador to France, with something "very little short of treason," an indignant group of senators in closing Democratic D. Worth Clark of Idaho hotly attacked the diplomat today for his speech at Philadelphia last night.

Clark, who led the attack, charged that Bullitt had "betrayed the confidence of the American people" by his "unilateral" declaration that the United States was in a "state of war" with Germany.

Clark's attack was supported by several other senators, including Charles McNary and Charles McNary, who accused Bullitt of "betraying the confidence of the American people."

Britain Takes to Cover As Raid Sirens Sound

Bomb Bursts, Huge Fires Mark Pounding of Nazi-Held French Coast

LONDON, Aug. 20.—(Tuesday)—Covering defeat by heavy odds in distant Somme, Britain flung the full force of offensive against Germany and the Nazi-held French coast last night and today in the fiercest bombings of three nights of successive raids.

While the royal air force launched squadron after squadron across the explosion-lighted English channel, the drone of scattered Nazi planes was heard over almost every quarter of the straitened island, but no concentrated attacks were reported.

Explosions, huge fires, and the flash of anti-aircraft fire were seen clearly in southeastern England showing the intensity of the royal air force's third successive overnight pounding of the enemy coast.

Observers said the new blows were the heaviest the British have yet struck along the coast since the outbreak of the war.

HIGHWAYS GROUP BROADENS SCOPE

Association Abandons Name of Old Oregon Trail

JACKSON, Wyo., Aug. 19 (AP)—Some 100 delegates voted to change the name of the American Pioneer Trails association tonight despite objections from the Idaho delegation. Dr. Minnie S. Howard of Pocatello, head of the Idaho group, said the Gen. execs were anxious to perpetuate the name of the Oregon trail and felt the original purpose of the group would be lost if it were changed.

Howard H. Driggs, formerly of Boise, Id., and now of New York City, president of the association, explained that the change was made in order to widen the field of activity. He said associations representing all other western states would be expected to affiliate with the association.

John H. Giles of Salt Lake City, representing the Utah pioneer landmarks commission, said his group was well pleased "to drop" the Oregon Trail, but he would have liked to have a large monument erected at Fort Hall, Idaho, as one of the outstanding points on the Oregon Trail. No action was taken on his proposal.

VOTERS TO STUDY LIQUOR CONTROL

State Prints 235,000 Copies of Proposed Regulatory Laws

BOISE, Aug. 19 (AP)—Approximately 235,000 pamphlets containing copies of an initiative petition calling for adoption of a county initiated liquor control act, arguments against its adoption, and a proposed Idaho sobriety act, were sent by the secretary of state to the various county canvassers of Idaho today. It is estimated approximately $200,000 will have been spent in printing expenses, miscellaneous and postage for distribution of the folders. The next session of the Idaho legislature, it was indicated, will be called upon to pass a deficiency appropriation to cover the printing costs, no previous appropriation having been made. The first proposal would provide for county option in regulation of liquor. The proposed sobriety act would ban liquor advertising and liquor "boots" would limit retail sales to any one person to two quarts a day, would ban drinking clubs and would prohibit sale of liquor from state dispensaries to retail liquor dealers. Both proposals will be voted upon at the November election.

Search Continues For Missing Man

BOISE, Aug. 19 (AP)—No definite news as to the whereabouts of 27-year-old Raymond Nelson, farm worker missing from his home in Boise since the latter part of June, have been reported to the Ada county sheriff's office as yet, despite a search since early last week. Sheriff Don Hendrick said today. A man answering Nelson's description was reported seen by employees of a power plant at Sunnyside, a few days later, but since that time there have been no further reports. Nelson, who was found abandoned near Grandview recently, one time has been out and a wheel was bogged down in a ditch. Sheriff Hendrick said Nelson's relatives feared he might have suffered a lapse of memory and may have become lost while wandering on the desert.

this little COUPON tells a 4-ply story of Times-News Pulling Power

In last Thursday's Idaho Evening Times and last Friday's Twin Falls News, M. H. King and Co., placed a four column by ten inch ad. Filled with the characteristic values offered by this firm, it was fully expected the results would be good. But when a final check-up was made through the coupon included in the ad as shown, Mr. Russell H. Jensen, manager, found that more than 400 persons had availed themselves of the coupon offer! A real "result-story" — and here's what else it told:

1. It proved that newspaper advertising pays, and is one of the easiest and most effective ways to invite prospective customers into your store. It proved that your daily newspapers are media upon which you can depend for actual, tangible results.
2. It proved that both the Times and News have tremendous pulling power. Of a total of 429 coupons returned, 212 were from one paper, 217 from the other. That means that Twin Falls merchants have at their command two lively news media with an equal amount of reader interest.
3. It proves that advertising is real news to newspaper readers and that even big "front-page news" cannot crowd merchandising values aside. Inasmuch as the coupon in M. H. King's ad appeared well inside, it proves that the Twin Falls newspapers are so designed as to carry reader interest throughout.
4. It proves, too, if you have merchandising news to tell, your daily newspapers can best convey your message; that a visual presentation of the goods you have to sell is the surest way to merchandising success.

Why such successes are possible can be easily understood. Going into more than 16,000 Magic Valley homes every day, the Twin Falls newspapers offer the most complete advertising coverage available through any media.

What's more, these daily newspapers are bought and paid for, because they're in demand in the Magic Valley homes into which they go.

Through no other media can your advertising have such a welcome reception. Through no other media can an advertising message be so heavily concentrated upon the great buying market in southern Idaho.

The Times and News offer you an 85% coverage of all the homes in Magic Valley. As M. H. King's Little Coupon has demonstrated: IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN YOUR DAILY NEWSPAPERS!

YESTERDAY, To Kay's dismay, Adam sweetly, and she was glad. Then Julia and Kay catch Sandra and Ira in an embrace and are left for the moment as the party has closed for all of them.

Chapter 18 Death Warrant

We drove to the club. Jeff came in very soon with an air of being quite alone but he was not. He was at his desk, curiously refused an invitation to join us and went upstairs. Gerald, who had been softening his own refusal, making himself a good fellow in spite of his club, and finally taking his departure with ill-concealed relief.

I think it was Gerald who was graced another spin. The lake breeze had died and the night turned sultry. Julia greeted the idea with enthusiasm but turned thumbs down on the officers' beach.

"The barges or else," she said darkly. "The barges it is," agreed Gerald. Adam stood in the lounge looking wistfully at the water. He believed he would turn in. "Keys are in the car," he said. "You might put the garage when you get back."

In Julia's judgment that she needed that for respectability, for a chaperon. Father was tired of tending the children and was backward about showing it. A compromise was finally reached by the three of us set off once more in Adam's car, with Gerald driving.

"Should we stop by your house for Sandra and Ivan?" he asked innocently. "In a big way," said Julia elegantly. "That dirty party!" She fell silent, evidently brooding. The moon was low behind a bank of mist that promised rain before morning.

"Drive up the beach way," Julia suggested. "I don't like that harbor in the dark. It's sort of ghastly." Gerald agreed still and he and Julia read up the road from the barge, but we could still see a dark bulk against the sand, secret and forbidding.

I waited until we were in the water, before swimming out to them. The beach, as far as I could see in either direction, was completely deserted. It was fun, Julia and Gerald played like us, diving, rising, slapping the water with hands like flippers.

We were resting on the sand, veiled by the half-darctions, when we heard a car and saw lights approaching from the direction of the post. It stopped on the far side of the harbor and the car was dark. "Into the water," said Julia. "until we see who it is!"

"It was a poor affair," we followed it. We kept close together in the water, waiting for an opportunity to strike. The car was dark, but we saw the headlights. "There was none," said Julia. "I saw someone on the barge," Julia said presently, and we all saw something more slowly against the gray sky. "I saw someone on the barge," she said, "but we were too vague to betray. Not that we thought of that then. I think we all believe we were there because of the loneliness, even the shyness of the scene. And after that, we were all sure of it until we were no longer sure of anything, we realized that there might have been more than one car though there had been only one car door and no sound of voices. Whoever the person was, however, whatever the errand, it was soon done. Perhaps ten minutes after we saw the car, we heard the door slammed shut and the prolonged, patient whine of the starter.

seen on car lights and joined us. "That's a break," commented Julia. "He must have tried to walk home and get into the car, but suppose he's lost out there somewhere?"

Strange Doings Include Money Chewing and Narrow Escapes

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—You might have called last week another money-chewing week.

A steer in Butler, Penn., pulled $100 out of Max Luther's pocket and ate it.

And before crowds in the street outside, a dog locked in a New York store handily chewed a lot of $1 and $10 bills.

—Or you might have called it boy-wit-a-crow-shave week.

As William G. Hall of Montgomery, Penn., sat in his truck at a movie rating, passing time sheared the motor off.

And Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Gettler of Atlim, N. Y., sitting in an auto, whizzed 60 feet backwards, crashed through the front of a movie theater, and landed in the lobby unhurt.

John Don, Jr., 3, of Berne, Ind., was scolded by a stray bull, dumped into a bee's nest, and then fell head first into a bucket of paint.

Most baffled people of the week: John Ferguson, 9, of Cambridge, Mass.—He started drowning a few yards from where a life-saving class was practicing.

"A MAN NAMED GRANT" by Helen Todd; (Houghton Mifflin: 1939) 25c.

For the first time in this reader's experience Ulysses S. Grant has been made an interesting and appealing figure in himself, not merely as a successful commander and a successful politician.

Grant is made a novel out of the man's career. This overviews the usual perspective in Miss Todd's book Grant does not make history, but history makes a man named Grant.

BUHL WPA TRIO FACES CHARGES

Three Accused of Disturbing Peace During Office Picnic

BUHL, Aug. 19—Charges of disturbing the peace and of drinking intoxicating liquor in a public place, filed by Ray Barnhart, son of J. W. Barnhart, naturopathic doctor, against three district WPA office employees, will be heard at 10 a. m. Tuesday before Charles Coler, justice of the peace.

Court records show that warrants of arrest were issued against Pete Hehl, Frank Craven and Robert Hampton, three members of the WPA group who held a picnic last Wednesday at the institution.

One woman was refused permission to enter the pool because it was felt by the management that she was in no condition to be swimming.

The beer permit was revoked upon the members of the party, and after threats were allegedly made against the caretaker and his wife, a gun was fired by Barnhart above the head of one of the guests. The incident is being investigated by the sheriff and by Barnhart, the man was merely a warning.

Records of Justice Coler show that the charges were filed the latter part of last week.

COUNCIL PASSES CITY TAX LEVY

Ordinance Assesses 32 1-4 Mills: Action Revokes Beer License

Twin Falls City council last night passed an ordinance setting the city millage tax for the fiscal year from May 1, 1930, to April 30, 1931, at 32 1/4 mills per dollar of assessed valuation and revised the beer license of an establishment on Shoshone street south which had been termed a "public house."

Paul Tater was acting mayor in the absence of Mayor Joe Kretzner. Other councilmen were all present. The tax ordinance was passed to meet general current expenses of the city, including and maintaining streets and maintenance of the public library.

Division of the levy was as follows: 15 mills for general expenses; nine mills for interest on waterworks refunding bonds series A and B; principal and interest on waterworks refunding bonds; principal and interest on library bonds; three mills for lighting streets; two mills for maintaining the library; one fourth mill for the municipal hall; and three mills for sprinkling, flushing and cutting streets.

Beer license of the Reno club on Shoshone street south was revoked on a recommendation of Chief of Police Howard Gillette after Gillette had concluded that the place was "a disgrace to the city." Jessie Lantieri, who received the beer permit and Frankie Egan, manager of the club, appeared before the council. They were ordered to appear within three days if the beer license should not be revoked.

A wreck was caused Saturday night, the lid was off the club, said Gillette. "The place was a scorching mass of drunks, both men and women. It was a disgrace to the city."

"This action should be a warning to other beer parlors in Twin Falls if they do not comply with regulations," Gillette said later.

The beer permit was revoked when Jessie Lantieri said she applied for the license but Egan, who is not a naturalized citizen, operated the club, contrary to law. This specifies that such permits are granted only to citizens of the United States.

IN A TRADE IT'S THE MONEY DIFFERENCE THAT COUNTS

GET THIS ITEMIZED INVOICE WHEN YOU BUY AND

- Know what you're paying;
- Know what you're getting;
- See the value in the car;
- See all items in the price.

MOST people who buy automobiles these days have an old car to trade in. And many of them think they get the best "deal" when they buy where they get the biggest allowance for that car.

But as you can easily see, what really matters in a trade is the money difference between the old-car allowance and the new-car delivered price.

For the new-car delivered price may be "packed"—an extra amount may be slipped in to provide for a bigger allowance on the old car.

You think you get a better deal—but you may find you are actually paying out more money in the end.

To enable you to better understand the items which make up the price of the car you buy, General Motors has furnished its dealers with "plainview" price charts and price tags. This chart and price tag make it easy to see the money difference you actually pay out.

In addition, under the General Motors merchandising policy, the customer is entitled to an itemized invoice giving detailed information.

All this information helps you buy on real value instead of used-car allowances alone. Visit your local General Motors dealer and have him explain how "plainview" pricing helps you get the most for your money.

This is the standard price tag furnished by General Motors to its dealers to show what makes up the local delivered prices of new cars delivered to customers.
