Twin Falls Trustees Resume Discussions Over Labor Camp Schooling

Twin Falls school district trustees during last night's meeting, elected Ralph Lank chairman, adopted a tentative budget for the 1941-42 fiscal year and discussed problems of educating children at the farm labor camp south of the city with farm security administration officials.

During the reorganization of the board, Ernest P. Stettler was re-elected treasurer. John Soden was re-elected clerk.

Although the general fund revenue in the budget estimate is larger than last year's general fund, this difference is more than offset by such expenses as the new $10,000 bond necessary for the damage of failure in the former school building. The 1941-42 fund is $218,170, while $210,143 was spent last year. This represents an increase of about $8,000.

Revenue Given

Estimated revenue is $218,170, or about $8,000 more than last year's $210,143. In current taxes, $77,000 from state and county school apportionment. In addition carryover funds are available.

Labeled as a major item in the budget is $10,000 for school district services in this field. $15,733.61 was spent last year. Debt service is set at $37,450 this year, an expenditure of $38,187.50 was necessary last year. Operation of the entire school system, including required $21,012.73 on the previous year, is allocated $22,050 in the budget estimate.

After Dr. Kline's Bill

After Dr. Kline's bill of the FSA regional labor camp, assistant regional labor director, advised the board that the government could make no guarantee of transient quarters at the camp would be closed December 1, 1941. The board, after discussing the terms provided in a memorandum agreement by which the district would educate the children of farm laborers, postponed further action until the government provides positive assurance on this subject.

Payment matters. The FSA representatives also informed the board that the government would not pay the payment in lieu of taxes, totaling about $1270, although this is being handled by the county.

After the board had told the officials that the next step must come from the government, the board announced that he will go to Portland immediately to seek a definite FSA agreement. The board also discussed the provision for facilities at the camp for transient children.

LIGHTNING HITS LOCAL BUILDING

Decorative Piece Damaged
Atop Burkholder
Building

Rain and lightning combined shortly before noon Sunday to flood Twin Falls streets and cause some property damage, including shattering of a part of a decorative block atop the Burkholder building when it was struck by lightning.

As the rain, which fell in sheets, came as worshippers were returning from services, it forced many to wait for as long as half an hour until it abated. A number of pedestrians were forced to travel 14 or more blocks to cover a route usually only four or five blocks long.

Sewers were clogged at several points, forcing water up over curbs. Branches were blown from a number of trees and one large tree toppled when the roots failed to hold.

The lightning bolt, which struck the Burkholder building, split off a portion of the decorative piece which fell to the street below; while a 50-pound chunk landed 10 feet away on the roof.

MOSCOW MAYOR, COUNCIL CLASH

Feud Flares Anew Over Action on Suspension of Police Chief

MOSCOW, Idaho, Sept. 9 (AP)—The feud between Mayor Henry Hansen and the city council flared anew last week-end when the mayor notified Chief of Police George Sheffield that he considered "the office of chief of police vacant."

The mayor contended a recent action of the council in suspending Chief Sheffield for 10 days without pay constituted his earlier dismissal of the chief on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer. The charge, he said, was based on an argument between Sheffield and the city treasurer over a requisition.

"I have been advised there is no legal authority for the temporary suspension of a city official," the mayor wrote Sheffield. "It is my position that the council could either confirm or refuse to confirm my act in discharging you. The action of the council constitutes an affirmation of your discharge."

WILLKIE TELLS TOPICS OF TALKS

Nominee to Discuss Free Enterprise, Third Term; Ford Pays Visit

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Sept. 9 (AP)—After a brief talk with Henry Ford, Wendell L. Willkie announced tonight his first major campaign address next Monday at Coffeyville, Kas., would interpret the difference between his philosophy of free enterprise and that of the new deal.

The Republican presidential nominee said the speech would tie in domestic issues with international affairs. He also disclosed one of the talks on his western tour would take up the third term issue.

Willkie received Ford late in the morning. Both men declined comment afterward, except for a remark by Willkie that the auto manufacturer came to "pay his respects" and that their visit was "very pleasant." Asked whether Ford pledged support to Willkie's campaign, the nominee said, "We will have to answer that question."

One policeman on duty with Willkie said that Ford, whose visit was surrounded with secrecy, wore a red, white and blue Willkie-button during the conference.

Willkie devoted much of the day to a conference with Samuel R. Ford, Jr., eastern campaign manager, regarding a speaking itinerary following his western tour this month. A decision will be reached soon as to whether Willkie will go into the Midwest or into New Orleans early in October.

The candidate, in reply to a question, said he had not yet studied the compulsory military service bill as passed by the house and would withhold comment until he could compare it with the senate measure.

A reporter asked Willkie, "are you going to ignore Mr. Roosevelt as he is ignoring you?"

"I have a hunch," the nominee replied, "that before the campaign is over, Mr. Roosevelt won't ignore me."

Willkie and his staff worked on final details of the western trip, which will start Thursday night.
