

CANDIDATE CALLS
FOR CO-OP PLANGlen Taylor Speaks Before
200 at Townsend
Session

Declining his support of the Townsend movement and pointing out that if he is elected he will be "heard from" at Washington, D. C., Glen Taylor, Democratic candidate for U. S. senator, addressed about 200 persons during last night's meeting at the I. O. O. F. hall, sponsored by Townsend clubs No. 1 and No. 4 of Twin Falls.

Although he had to leave his campaigning car outside, he had with him his wife and young son, Andy, whom he described as his "campaign manager." Both joined with the senatorial aspirant in the musical part of the program.

After C. W. Williams, Twin Falls attorney and candidate for state senator, and spoke briefly. Mr. Taylor was introduced by Mrs. Albert Hughes, president of Townsend club No. 1.

Talks of Past
After opening his remarks by pointing out that his early career as an entertainer brought him in contact with the country and that he learned of their privations and "decided to do something about it."

Then came his "round-trip" campaign which brought his nomination for U. S. senator.

The speaker declared that if he were elected he would not follow the "policy of silent watching" in the senate during the first year, but that as soon as he learned the rules he would be heard from at Washington.

Leaders tell us that, if all our men, materials and machinery were put to work, we could produce $20,000 a year in goods and services for every family in America.

Our present economic difficulties are caused by the concentration of ownership in a few hands," he declared. "Abraham Lincoln foresaw this state of affairs, and had this to say: 'As a result of the war, (the) corporations have been entrenched and an era of corruption in high places will follow. The money power of the country will endeavor to prolong its reign by working upon the prejudices of the people until wealth is aggregated and the republic destroyed. I feel that this moment more anxiety for the safety of my country than ever before, even in the midst of the war.'"

After Mr. Taylor and Sweden as examples, the speaker indicated that the "most sensible" solution to this problem is a cooperative ownership of mass production industries and public utilities and banking system.

At start of the program, his son sang several numbers, and the entire family later joined in musical selections.

Mr. Williams discussed state issues, asserting that when the Democratic administration left office, there was a large surplus in the treasury, which has now been changed to a deficit. Turning to the national scene, he pointed out that progress comes from breaking precedents, and offered Abraham Lincoln's precedent-breaking Emancipation Proclamation and the Louisiana purchase, as examples. For this reason, he argued, the third term precedent could well be broken.

Mrs. Pitzer announced that Orland A. Scott, national Townsend representative from Idaho, will speak in the city park Sunday afternoon and will show motion pictures that evening at the I. O. O. F. hall.

Youths to Face Burglary Claim
When two youths now being held at Denver, Colo., are returned here by officers, they will face first degree burglary charges resulting from alleged theft of a safe from the Weaver service station in Twin Falls. The complaint, signed by Police Chief Howard Ollie, who is one of the officers now en route to Denver to return the safe, has been filed in probate court, and it charges that they entered the service station, stole the small safe and "sped it" after taking it into the country.

The youths, Jim Pennington, 17, and Ed Fitzer, 19, were picked up early this week by Denver officials. They will be brought here, probably Saturday, by Chief Ollie, Deputy Sheriff Claude Wiley and Hal Cunningham, Bull night marshal.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out bile all the time. If it fails to do this, your food may not digest. It may just stay in the bowels. Then the blood in your system is not purified. You feel sour, sick and the world looks black.

It takes about 24 hours for the liver to get rid of the bile it has poured out. If you take a dose of this medicine, the bile is poured out again, and you feel better.

autumn, which frequently brings summer in a new setting, one that is radically different from the conventional, but is nonetheless striking in its appeal. With a temperature plunging steadily toward eighty, it is difficult to recognize the season, and the prospect of melancholy days, of misty, wind-whipped, and naked woods, and meadows brown and bare.

Unhappily, all that will come later. For the present, autumn affords a setting, atmospheric and scenic, of unalloyed delight. "How heavenly," the poet, Hood, has said, "autumn paints upon the sky the gorgeous flame of summer which is fled." But the busy season does far more than this, as anyone who casts a disconcerting eye upon a wooded hillside will realize.

Nature, as the spectacle reveals, has been veiled in her robes of russet and yellow, sear, and purple, with here and there a spot of green that resists for a time the inexorable processes of transformation while a mild breeze carries the incense of burning leaves. All of this, of course, is preliminary to decay, to the death of flower and leaf, and the flight of birds. But it is a gorgeous season while it lasts.

Other Points of View

September has a Friday, the 13th. So what? There seems no good reason to stress the date on the calendar yet, for exactly the opposite of the day will be marked by comment and discussion will pour in to whether black cats, walking under ladders, passing cracked mirrors, and other superstitions cast spells on appointed occasions.

Every year has its Friday, the 13th. Some years have three. It is a fortunate individual who has no more days that seem unlucky. While we call luck is not in the day but in ourselves. Those who succeed in attaining mental discipline and self-control will be found to have fewer unlucky days. Parents and teachers should fortify children against the nonsense of superstition.

The earliest mention of Friday, the 13th is in Greek literature and from that fact some argue the possibility of evil omens. So such early superstitions have contributed to human phobias. Children who have been taught to ignore it will have received profitable instruction.

JUST ONE ANSWER
In the final analysis, there is one reason for the opposition to the draft of our countrymen. It is the opposition to conscription. And that is the reason for the opposition to conscription. And that is the reason for the opposition to conscription.

We believe that the majority of the American people want to help England in her desperate plight—perhaps for selfish reasons. But they fear that, if Roosevelt, with the help of a vesting attorney general, can transfer our countrymen without the consent or even knowledge of Congress, it will be long before he will take such drastic and dangerous steps of which we, the people, disapprove.

In the matter of conscription this newspaper must take the word of our readers that this step is not in the interest of the country. It is a step that will be taken by the government, and it is a step that will be taken by the government.

Students Get Intensive Study of Constitution

In keeping with the current national "Constitution Week," members of Twin Falls high school and junior high school faculties, especially English instructors, and members of Twin Falls chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, are cooperating in an intensive program of study of the American constitution for high school and junior high school students, and at the end of the week, all students will have completed an original piece of work, poem, essay, drawing or story, to illustrate what the constitution means to them.

"The schools have a responsibility to build for citizenship, to educate children to what democracy stands for and what it means to them," Home? Davis, superintendent of schools, said yesterday.

"Material for the intensive study has been secured through the book, 'The American Constitution,' by Mrs. J. W. Hays, who is state chairman of national defense of the D. A. R. in this county."

Through Mrs. McCoy, a variety of pamphlets and illustrated material on the history of the constitution, the American Creed and other vital American citizenship traditions and privileges have been secured for distribution among English teachers, where the work is being carried out.

Throughout, the material is suggestive of practical application in the classroom. Study of the American Creed has been tied up with the responsibilities and duties of the American citizen. It is being emphasized that the American Creed, besides being a vehicle to stimulate patriotism, is being recognized as an outstanding piece of American literature.

"Know your Constitution," from its history to the words and words contained in it, is the theme of the week at the school of the week. It contains the rules by which the citizens of the United States live.

Teachers in the high school in whose classes the work is being carried out are Miss Dorothy Call, Miss M. D. Duggan, William L. Johnson, Wendell Lawrence, Mrs. Mercedes J. Paul, Miss Kathleen Povey and Miss Josephine Throckmorton.

Junior high school teachers are Tom Adams, Miss Alberta Callahan, Miss Rebecca Curtis, Miss Dorothy Day, Miss Helen G. Grant, Paul L. McKean, Miss Lucille Neri, Miss Anna Seehler, Miss Mary Dillon Smith, Elizabeth E. Smith, R. Throckmorton and Miss Anne Williams.

YESTERDAY, Jack is knocked unconscious and awakes in the hospital to find Adam by her side. Adam says he has been leaving her again. Jack learns that the black eye was achieved by a good punch on the nose with a cloth soaked in vinegar.

Chapter 42

I woke about the middle of the afternoon feeling that I had been a vast unfinished building from which a thousand hammering workmen had just taken their unhampered departure. I stirred a little on my pillow. The head was sore, definitely. But that heavenly vacancy was reassuring.

Adam and Julia arrived about four o'clock. Adam brought a basket of fruit that should have gone to the garbage of the Normande. I wondered if it was for ammunition. "I'm not proud of myself," Julia said abruptly. She looked at me and she had not slept, but her smudged eyes shone like the ones in her mother's picture. "I never dream of you," she said to me. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

"I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you," she said. "I was so wrapped up in myself I couldn't spare a thought for you."

The nurse uttered. He turned and gave her a very fishy look. The missing member was practically visible for a moment. To my intense satisfaction she appeared to recall that she had other duties and withdrew.

And then the temptation of what had just said made its way to my mind. I looked into the eyes and saw the cold steel there but I was not struck. In the instant of revelation I saw that he could be pitiless but not unprincipled, that he could be brutal but not in the service of mischief.

"You must think I'm a fool," I said, feeling my face grow hot. "I said, feeling my face grow hot."

"You—what are you? Intelligence?"

Department of Justice. I thought you knew, of course. Um, the one who's a fool. I took it for granted, that such a person was, when you made veiled references to my inexperience, that Adam had told you so. I was left. That was what I felt safe to do, of course. He thought I'd be able to look after my own life. I was very proud of myself.

the only grandchild of a man who, in his lifetime, has made many millions of dollars. I was one of the operators who worked on the case. Disguised as the Handy butler—old Cockney who has been with them for thirty-five years—I delivered the ransom in person a few hours before the child was returned. I met the kidnappers here. I didn't hear the voice—he here only in whispers. I dared not look at him. I was very proud of myself.

"I didn't take a dreadful chance. I had a light in his face."

"You might have been killed!" I protested.

"I wasn't likely to risk a shot and remember, I was a bent old man. The chance I took was in taking the child's life. I gambled on his being marked, which he proved to be. He must have felt perfectly safe. Until long afterward, when he remembered his indelible mark of self-protection. He put out his hand to cover the beam of light, and his hands were bare. I had wiped the flashlight clean. I got a beautiful set of prints."

France Lacks for Needed Supplies

VICHY, France, Sept. 18.—The urgent quality of food supplies for unoccupied France again was studied by the council of ministers today. Paris dispatches said strict rationing of all principal foodstuffs would be initiated in the Nazi-occupied zone Sept. 23.

The scarcity of some needed supplies in unoccupied France is becoming more and more acute. Soap, sugar, razor blades and toothpaste are fast selling out.

Shoes and men's clothing are extremely scarce. Restaurants are forbidden to serve coffee with the evening meal. The sale of bread is prohibited until it is 24 hours old—six glaucous ones taste for five.

Grocer Drives Hard Bargain With Gum-Toting Customer

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 18.—Un- saved by a pistol in the hand of a customer, Grocer E. Weber, 65-year-old grocer, haggled his way out of the situation yesterday and drove a hard bargain with the young bandit.

The dialogue: Weber: "You should give me your money." Bandit: "You can't have it." Weber: "I'll shoot." Bandit: "Go ahead then, shoot."

Weber: "Look, I'm hungry. Gimme some money." Bandit: "Well, I can let you have 25 cents."

Idaho Observes Constitution Day

BOISE, Sept. 18.—Constitution Day was observed in Idaho in response to a proclamation from Governor Bottelstein which called for the giving of "serious thought to the importance of safeguarding in this hour of international stress, the fundamental principles of a balanced system of Republican government under the constitution of the United States."

The governor declared it was the duty of all persons "who, on this 152nd anniversary of the signing of the constitution, enjoy the manifold blessings which have come to our nation, to defend the constitution against those who would destroy its cardinal principles."

Traders Deal Cautiously as List Records Fourth Straight Advance

Markets At A Glance

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Stock prices moved up again today with traders dealing cautiously as the list recorded a fourth straight advance. The fourth consecutive advance, placing price levels close to the high point reached in the first week of the month.

The Associated Press average of 60 selected issues gained 3 1/2 points at 441. Transactions totaled 47,000 shares.

Analysts attributed the advance, in the face of the uncertain outlook, to the apparent strengthening of the royal air force, to predictions of even more activity in key industries and to Wall Street rumors that the excess profits tax bill was not likely to be as stringent as originally expected.

The close found 229 issues up, 111 down and 183 unchanged.

Among the best advanced were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Douglas, Sherrill, Montgomery Ward, C. P. Emery, Eastman, Johnson, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, Dow Chemical, Westinghouse, American Can, Phillips, Dodge, American Telephone and Telegraph, U. S. National Bank, Great Northern preferred and Standard Oil of N. J.

Stocks would be still higher. Commodities were mixed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Stock prices moved up again today with traders dealing cautiously as the list recorded a fourth straight advance. The fourth consecutive advance, placing price levels close to the high point reached in the first week of the month.

The Associated Press average of 60 selected issues gained 3 1/2 points at 441. Transactions totaled 47,000 shares.

Analysts attributed the advance, in the face of the uncertain outlook, to the apparent strengthening of the royal air force, to predictions of even more activity in key industries and to Wall Street rumors that the excess profits tax bill was not likely to be as stringent as originally expected.

The close found 229 issues up, 111 down and 183 unchanged.

Among the best advanced were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Douglas, Sherrill, Montgomery Ward, C. P. Emery, Eastman, Johnson, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, Dow Chemical, Westinghouse, American Can, Phillips, Dodge, American Telephone and Telegraph, U. S. National Bank, Great Northern preferred and Standard Oil of N. J.

ROTARY TOLD OF CLIPPER SHIPS

Lieut. Lindsey Describes Operation of Giant Planes

Crews that man big Pan-American Airways clipper ships, flying from New York City to London, Portugal, consider each 3400-mile trip a routine matter, but it is this routine which assures safety on the journey. Lewis Lindsey, first lieutenant, U. S. marine corps, told the Twin Falls Rotary club during yesterday's luncheon meeting at the Park hotel.

Lieutenant Lindsey is here from New York to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lindsey, and his career in the marine corps and as second in command of the clipper crew of 11, has been marked by steady advancement.

During his discussion of operations of the always steady, he told of countries visited and problems encountered. However, intimate care in preparation and operation of the ship has reduced unusual occurrences to the minimum, he pointed out. Because of war in Europe, former destinations of Ireland, England, Canada and France have been eliminated from clipper ship routes. Spanning 3400 miles of ocean for 22 hours, is a daily occurrence for Mr. Lindsey.

The ship leaves New York at 3 p. m., arriving in the Azores shortly after sunrise the next day, he said. After taking on gas to replace that used during the first 2300 miles, it continues to Lisbon, arriving shortly before sunset and covering an additional 1100 miles. The ship returns immediately, but the crew stays over for two days.

Lieutenant Lindsey has been engaged in this service for the past four years.
