

CROWD THRILLS
TO AIR STUNTSSpeed, Acrobatics, Safety
Keynote Afternoon's Performance

The largest crowd to ever gather at the Twin Falls municipal airport is in prospect today if the weatherman is kind. Officials indicated last night following presentation of yesterday afternoon's air show before a substantial first-afternoon audience.

Today's show is at 2 p. m. Although yesterday's event was favored by clear weather, cloud streaked skies held back sunlight to make conditions acceptable in the crowd, which watched some of the nation's best stunt flyers offer nearly three hours of difficult maneuvers and daring stunts under sponsorship of the Idaho Pilots association, Twin Falls chapter.

High points of the afternoon were the aerial acrobatics of Tex Rankin, world-famous stunt pilot, the delayed parachute jump of Dorothy Harnden, the figure of Laura Ingalls in handling her ship, and a radio control performance.

Other contributors to their services to a successful show were Francis Diaz and Bill Carter, who provided a comic touch at the airport by showing how not to fly an airplane. Miss Diaz performed a capable dead-kick.

Miss Ingalls' work in the air was outstanding for its smoothness and execution of difficult maneuvers, including a falling leaf demonstration and up-and-down speed dash.

Piloting an older and slower ship, the old master, Tex Rankin, pursued Miss Ingalls, operating a fast-Ryan, and finally landed her in a "dead right" in the clouds.

Miss Harnden provided a spectacular phase of the show when she plunged at a height of 6,000 feet from a ship piloted by Linell A. Dean, flying co-captain of Twin Falls, in a delayed parachute jump.

The latter part of the jump was made with two parachutes to add to the appearance of the stunt.

The radio or "remote control" act proved one of the high points of the day, when a ship containing only one passenger, "who had never been up before," was "operated" from the ground by Rankin and appeared several times to be near disaster as the occupant "followed" Rankin's instructions on how to fly from the ground.

Near the close of the program, Rankin went aloft to offer a rapid succession of thrilling acrobatics, including writing with smoke and hammer-head stalls.

Hillard Hicks to Randolph Field

Completion by Hillard D. Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Olin R. Hicks, Sun Valley, of the primary pilot course at the army training center at the Ryan School of Aeronautics, San Diego has been announced by officials of the institution. He now will be advanced to Randolph field, Tex., or one of the army schools for basic flight training.

He was a former outstanding Rhinoceros athlete, and one of the first cadets to receive air corps training under the expanded defense program.

Our Town's Cast Members Seek Early Costumes of 1900 Period

If you've any costumes stored away from the early 1900 period, members of the Twin Falls high school cast of "Our Town" would like to borrow them for the presentation of their blooded drama Thursday and Friday, Oct. 3 and 4, according to Miss Florence Hest, director.

It is the hope of the director to make the Pulitzer prize play, written by Thornton Wilder, a play of this town by costume. It is hoped that from clothing which residents may have stored away and which they are willing to loan to the school.

New England Town - The play is the story of life in small towns in New England as seen through the eyes of Frank Craven, narrator, and takes place from 1900 to 1912.

Prat act tells of a day in the lives of the Gills and Webb families in 1900; second act jumps to 1904 and climaxes the love story of Emily Webb and George Gibbs with marriage and the first act, in 1912, is held in the cemetery on the hill.

Auditorium as Stage - The entire auditorium will be used to present the play, and some 400 actors will enter the stage from the audience. Numerous exits and entrances will be made through doorways on the main floor, and several of the cast, in makeup and costume, will walk in the front of the high school building and sit as members of the audience until their cues are given from the stage.

Without failure to limit the action or limit the imagination, spectators themselves create the background of Grover's Corner, which might well have been any small town in the United States at the time the play was written.

Characteristics of the costumes of the period are button shoes, non-descript and stiff petticoats, and collared and cuffs, per top trousers and string bow ties for the men.

Wedding Dresses - Weddings are wanted especially because it is planned to have a wedding dress assembly, with each model, the early wedding models. Mrs. I have already been promised, including one from 1862 and another from 1908, 1912 and 1929 seasons.

Articles of clothing, wanted for the production is long, but it is hoped by members of the cast that anyone who has "regime" of this period will telephone directly to the school or Miss Hest at 1207-M, who pledges that clothing will be returned, labeled, well taken care of and returned intact.

Margaret Voorhees-Lawrence Shively Pledge Vows at Double Ring Rites

Mrs. Lawrence Shively

At a double ring ceremony performed at high noon yesterday at the Presbyterian church, Margaret Shively, daughter of Mrs. Lucien W. Voorhees, became the bride of Lawrence Raymond Shively, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Shively, all of Twin Falls. Rev. G. L. Clark, pastor of the church, officiated.

The bride wore the white tulle, slightly trained wedding veil that had been part of the wedding attire of both her maternal grandmother and her mother, and her wedding gown of white chiffon was decorated with a large white, acorn-shaped brooch and a large white, acorn-shaped brooch.

She wore a string of pearls, gift of the bridegroom, and carried a bouquet of white roses and white aspidochelone.

White Decor - Attended by two hundred guests, the wedding was one of the most beautiful of the early autumn season. Vows were exchanged before a triple altar, entwined with greenery, interspersed with white chrysanthemums.

Two large baskets of the chosen flowers were on either side, and tall flower candles lit many lighted white tapers.

Preceding the bride as she went to the altar were her attendants, Mrs. Lavinia Judd, daughter of Ray Duggan, and Mrs. Lavinia Judd, daughter of Ray Duggan.

Best man was Leslie Burkhalter; Donald Voorhees, brother of the bride, and Eugene White, brother of the groom, were the ring bearers.

Traditional wedding matches were played at the ceremony by Miss Janet Felt, and Miss Betty Shively, sang "If God Left Only You."

A system of honor was given in a rose chignon gown, similar in style to that of the bride, with which she wore a matching coronet of pink and white ribbons.

A blue daisy truck was worn by the flower girl, who carried a blue and white basket from which she scattered rose petals.

The mother of the bride wore a wine-colored gown with a large collar and a corsage of pink carnations, and the bridegroom wore a white tuxedo.

NEWSON PICKED TO START SERIES FOR TIGERS

Beagals' Leader Ponders Serious Pitching Problem

Another Session of 'Elders' Sighted to Solve Situation for American League Champions

By JUDSON BAILY

CLEVELAND, Sept. 28 (AP)—Detroit's tired Tigers are again pondering a serious pitching problem in the world series. Manager Del Baker admitted today, and it wouldn't be surprising if it took another session of the "elders" to solve the situation. In the classic opening at Cincinnati Wednesday, the Tigers are likely to run into the same sort of a puzzle that they faced yesterday on their clincher with the Cleveland Indians.

Baker met that hurdle by calling in his veterans, the "nine old men," to pass on Rookie Floyd Giebel as the man for the job.

Saving Strategy
This secret strategy saved the hour for Detroit. Giebel, eligible for the series and another nine, is going to be made by the Bengals. Naturally, Buck Newson and Bobby Howe will start the first two games at Crosley Field, although Baker isn't sure in which order.

They'll bridge the gap in a big choice for the first game in Briggs stadium next Friday, but after that, the choice is made.

"You're aware ahead of the 'mound' bakers, I'll just have to pull somebody out of a hat," Baker said. "I don't know if I can do it, but I don't figure to use a left-hander against the Reds, at least not as a starter," he said. This strategy eliminated young Harold Newhouse, and the same Al McKelvy, although McKelvy may be summoned for relief work.

Natural Restriction
The restriction against pitchers is a natural one because Cincinnati has only three left-handed batters in its lineup. The eligible right-handers include Al (Dixie) Trout, whose nickname is why he isn't rated highly. Al, a natural left-hander, is the only one who will have his own work to do, and Fred Hutchinson, John Gorsica and Clay Smith, all lefties.

The best guess on which of this group will be chosen is that a left-hander will be used in the first game, and a right-hander in the last game with Cleveland and held the Indians to one hit in four innings.

Newson Favored
Most experts figure Newson eventually will be named to start the opening game because he can come back on short notice if necessary, probably working the fourth game in an emergency. How he will have to double up, too, in a long series and this might be the reason for naming him. But he could have a long rest.

Briggs definitely is limited to one game of service, unless he should happen to be knocked out in the early innings, a condition that Baker doesn't like to consider.

Baker has other worries, but they don't raise questions of a lineup. Old Charlie Gehringer at second base has a lame back and can't even bend down to his left. Chickentown Dick Barfield can't go to his right and David Baerens Pinky Higgins can't go to his left. But they'll be in their regular positions doing the best they can, and the Tigers figure their power will offset the handicaps.

There's a certain to come in the field. Bruce Campbell is likely to play the entire series in right field, because he is a left-handed batter and supposedly would have a better chance at the plate than the right-handed Pete Fox, a right-hander.

Dickie Roberts will do most of the catching, although Bill Sullivan may handle it. Manager Del Baker's combination has had considerable success.

Interested Spectator
One of the interested spectators at the last two games between the Tigers and Indians has been Manager Bill McKelvy of Cincinnati's national league champions.

While serious to name the order in which he will use his pitchers, the "elder" has been the logical choice of big Paul Derringer for the first game. This would make the probable starter for the next three games Bucky Walters, Gene Thompson and Jim Turner, the Reds' regular all season. South Derringer is coming back in the fourth game if it is critical.

McKelvy said that Carter Egan, who he named his right arm in Brooklyn on the last season, would be ready to play.

News & Times OPEN HOUSE OCTOBER 1 to 8

The Idaho Evening Times and Twin Falls News, believing that the people of Magic Valley will be interested in becoming more familiar with the operations of these newspapers and inspecting the various departments of the plant, will hold "Open House," starting Tuesday, the week of Oct. 1 to 8, inclusive.

So as to make the occasion worthwhile for all who may care to avail themselves of this opportunity, the Times and News have made extensive preparations for the event.

Throughout the week, everyone will be welcome to join the tours of inspection which will be conducted through the plant. Guides will be on hand to direct the tours and a loudspeaking system will be installed to explain the various operations. The entire battery of machinery required to produce the Times and News will be seen in actual operation.

Numerous displays will help to familiarize all visitors with the different departments, and all machinery will be carefully identified with descriptive placards.

An attractive 12-page souvenir-booklet, explaining in detail how the Times and News are published, will be given each person who attends the "Open House".

Of particular interest will be a display to be arranged in one of the show windows of the Idaho Power Company. An automatic news teletype machine, hooked up directly with a high speed trunk line press wire from New York City to San Francisco, will be a feature of the exhibit portraying the news gathering facilities of the Times and News. The teletype machine will operate day and night, throughout the week, bringing in news from all over the world. It will be in full view of all who wish to watch it in operation.

Meantime the newspapers themselves will be carrying complete details of the "Open House," including well illustrated daily features describing the Times and News personnel, the various departments, mechanical equipment, etc.

Few people realize that the Times and News have one of the best equipped newspaper plants in the intermountain country. We are convinced that all those who attend the "Open House" will find their visit not only interesting, but surprising as well.

Everyone is welcome.

All Welcome to Join Tours and View Displays

Each day during the Times and News "Open House," excepting Sunday, tours of inspection will be conducted through the plant between the following hours:

10:00 to 11:30 a. m.—12:30 to 2:30 p. m.—
6:00 to 9:30 p. m.

The time between 2:30 and 4:30 each afternoon will be devoted to showing the large newspaper press in operation. All those wishing to watch the press are welcome during those hours.

Particular attention is called to the displays which may be seen in the Times and News building and the show windows of the Idaho Power company. These will be especially interesting.

RELIEF SOCIETY
RECORD SCANNEDL. D. S. Women's Organization, President Reviews Activities.

SALT LAKE, CITY, Sept. 20.—The Relief Society of the Latter Day Saints church will scan the record of its activities in its first meeting, 90 years ago, Mrs. Amy Brown Lyman, president of the society, remarked today.

She explained, however, that the program, which will be discussed at the conference meeting here Wednesday is far different from that of early days.

Close to 2,500 articles, she said, have been distributed to 153 wards of the Salt Lake region but, while the garments to be produced will bear the same names as of old, they are modern in pattern and the cloth has been cut for frame.

The program, she said, is to be expanded into other sections of the state.

The society, she said, is continuing through Thursday will be followed by the annual fall conference of the church.

Idaho's Firemen

Fatal Accident
Leads to Suits

CALDWELL, Sept. 20.—An automobile accident near Nampa, Sept. 25, in which a Nampa girl was killed and another injured, resulted today in two suits totaling more than $40,000.

Parents of Ruth Murphy, 17, filed suit against Paul Gibbons, 20, and his father, R. P. Gibbons, asking $20,000 for the death of their daughter.

The guardian of Thelma Jett, 17, sought $20,000 for her injuries.

The two girls, with John Vincent, 19, were passengers of the younger Gibbons.

The complaints alleged the younger Gibbons was traveling at an excessive rate of speed and that he was under the influence of liquor.

Lamb Shipments

To Two Markets

Selling at Denver and Sioux City, Ia., two carloads of lambs shipped through the Twin Falls county livestock auction have brought $2,104.14 for 10 shippers, according to County Agent D. T. Bellingshires.

Of the two carloads carrying 49 head, one sold at Denver for $43.32 straight, while the other car sold at Sioux City at $45.55, with 21 head out at $46.65.

The shipment, weighing 44,832 pounds, showed a shrink of 4.3 per cent on one car and 5.2 per cent on the other. Net full home weight was $7,311.

October 11 is the probable date for the next pool.

DEFENBACH EYES
TAX ON PROPERTYHigh School Student's Request Brings Survey of System

A New high school student, Noah Levine, applied to Idaho's tax commissioner, Byron Defenbach, for consideration of his proposed outline of debate.

He stated, that the major part of the revenues of the state of Idaho should be raised from sources other than the general property tax.

Here is the commissioner's reply:

1. There is no tax on the intangible property as the word "intangible" is usually used in Idaho.

2. Twenty years ago approximately 70 per cent of Idaho's revenue came from the general property tax; by 1932 this had dropped to 50 per cent and is now approximately 32 per cent.

3. These notes do not, however, show federal taxes but are confined to state, county, district and municipal levies.

Practically all economists and tax experts in the United States would support affirmatively this question. No one would favor the entire abolishment of the general property tax but practically all agree that the existing trend away from that tax is proper but probably should be halted at its present point.

5. Idaho taxes may be divided into three general classes: a. Taxes on property; b. Taxes on income; c. Taxes on persons. The last two are usually grouped together under the heading of excise and license taxes.

Fundamental Rule

6. The fundamental rule of taxation was set by the English economist, Adam Smith, many years ago. It is that all taxes should be based upon: a. Ability to pay; b. Benefits derived from the services paid for by the taxes.

The general property tax violates the first of these principles for the reason that the ownership of property is not a true measure of ability to pay. The general property tax is a penalty upon the improvement of property. It penalizes the house owner who tries to improve his farm by fertilization, the farmer who seeks to increase the value of his farm by fertilization, the owner of his land and the painter of his buildings.

The general property tax also violates the rule of benefits received. What are these benefits? The use of streets and roads; police protection; protection against fire and many others. The cost of policing and otherwise protecting a piece of property does not depend on the value of that property.

Our laws recognize the unfairness of the general property tax by exempting numerous classes of property and various classes of citizens. Idaho has one of the lowest lists of exemption in the United States. Every one of these must be an admission that the general property tax is an unjust and unfair one.

Administration Problems

8. There is no form of taxation that is more difficult to administer than the general property tax. Almost every one in Idaho admits that the general property tax system is full of uncertainties, although we have been trying to correct these for more than 50 years.

9. The United States, including Idaho, is far behind the other progressive countries of the world in getting away from the general property tax. For instance, England depends upon other forms of taxation in far greater extent than we do in this country. It is interesting and pertinent to observe that there are no exemptions in England, even the poorest cottages, is on the tax roll, and pays taxes. However, the English government does not depend upon the general property tax for more than 15 per cent to 20 per cent of its total revenues.
